of this country during the pass one handered years.

1. We hold as Presbyterians, that there is a church, and that there has been a church from the beginning of human history; that the plan of the church was in the mind of Jehovah before He laid the foundations of this world. We hold the supreme headship of Christ. He is the Founder, Laweiver and Governor of the Founder, Lawgiver and Governor of the church. To Him alone is she responsible The laws given by Christ to His church are contained in the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, which Scriptures or to the and New Testaments, which Scriptures we hold to be the only and sufficient rule of faith and practice; the Bible, the Bible alone, and the whole Bible. As Presbyterians we claim patriarchal succession. Presbyterianism is older by thousands of years than the apostles. At Horeb, in the light of the burning bush, Moses received his great commission, which ran thus: "Go gather the elders of Israel together." Throughout the Bible from end to end the Church is Presbyterian, from the times of Moses, to, and, through the times of the apostles; from the Shechinah of the burning bush to the Apocalypse of John. Jehovah sent Moses to the elders of Israel, and in the Apocalypse the elders, together with angels and cherubin, worship and preach and sing the new song in company with the countless multitude before the throne. In the apocalyptic Church in Heaven, the thouseh and single than the apocalyptic Church in Heaven, the

THE PRESBYTERY IN THE BIBLE.

THE PRESENTERY IN THE SIBLE.

In all the scripture there is no instance recorded of an exercise of governmental authority in the church by individuals, saving and excepting the inspired prophets and apoeties. It is ever by tribunals. Nor is there named any other order of governmental officers composing these tribunals than the "presbuterol" (elders). However largely the term "episkopol" may have figured in church history since the apoetolic age, it is used but four times the apostolic age, it is used but four time in the New Testament as descriptive of a aurch officer (as against the use of "pres to Greek churches, as defining to the term "presbuterol," with which Gentile could not be familiar. 3. Let us contrast the past history with the present. But before speaking of our branch of Presbyterianism in the United States of America, I woulderemark that it is common to begin the history of religion in our country with the story of the Puritans. Of the 22 200 emigrants who came to New England before 1640, no less than 4,000 of them were Presbyterians. The Reformed churches of the Continent, and more than all, that of Holland, gave to the new world the blood and brain which still form a powerful element in the Presbyterian Church. The Dutch planted in 1619, in New York, the first strictly Presbyterian Church, and it remains to this day.
